

University Quays

My accommodation in the Quays is down by the river. It's not far from campus and it's also close to the town centre.

My room has everything I need. It's just the right size so it's easy to keep tidy and I also have my own private en-suite.

My journey to campus is only a 15-minute walk or a five-minute bike ride away.

Being so close to town meant I was able to pick up a part-time job to support my studies.

Living at the Quays makes it easy to juggle my work life and uni life. I look forward to going home after a busy day to catch up with my friends.

The kitchens are a great size and it's a central space where we all hang out together.

My friends and I sometimes go to London for the day, so having the train station near-by is really convenient and is a big plus point of living at the Quays.
