

The Houses

Being a literature student, I spend a lot of time reading, and my accommodation in The Houses provides me with the peace and quiet I need.

I'm also just a two-minute walk from the library, where I can find all the essential books for my course.

Living on central campus means that I make the most of the facilities on offer. I can grab food on the go, meet up with friends and find space to get on with my studies.

The Student Centre is filled with PCs, reading rooms and study pods. I often come here with my friends to get stuck into assignments or to discuss group work.

I really enjoy organising events with cultural societies and getting involved in all of the SU events, so it is important for me to be close to the heart of campus.

A normal weeknight for me and my flat mates is to be eating a home-cooked meal. We usually take turns to cook – trying out each other's favourite dishes.

For me, The Houses has just the right balance between being central on campus and being somewhere to relax and wind down after a long day.
