

HEROES: Helping Each other with Research On Empirical Subjects

Spring term 2012

19.01 Johannes Kleibl. Financial Stability, International Competitiveness, and the Politics of Financial Regulator Accountability. Presentation.

02.02 Kosuke Imai and Dustin Tingley (2011). A Statistical Method for Empirical Testing of Competing Theories. Article.

09.02 Kaisa Hinkkainen. Economics of Terrorism: Trade-off Between Criminal and Terrorist Tactics. Presentation.

16.02 David B. Carter and Curtis S. Signorino (2010). Back to the Future: Modeling Time Dependence in Binary Data. Article.

Nathaniel Beck (2010). Time is Not A Theoretical Variable. Article.

23.02 Zorzeta Bakaki. International Organizations and Long Term Peace. Presentation.

01.03 Andreas Murr. Smoothing in R and Stata. Presentation.

William G. Jacoby (2000). LOESS: A Nonparametric, Graphical Tool for Depicting Relationships Between Variables. Article.

08.03 Paul Poast (2010). (Mis)Using Dyadic Data to Analyze Multilateral Events. Article.

15.03 Gary King et al. (2001). Analyzing Incomplete Political Science Data: An Alternative Algorithm for Multiple Imputation. Article.

22.03 Andreas Murr. The Dynamics of Citizen Forecasting. Presentation.