UK Counter-Radicalization Programmes

Project Partner: Open Society Justice Initiative

Initial Specification
This project will analyse the history and content of UK counter-radicalization programmes. In order to understand how these programs intersect with human rights, the Clinic team will locate and summarize relevant UK counter-radicalization laws, policies, and programs; research the purpose and political context in which the programs emerged; and compile publicly available information from local and international sources that describe any human rights criticisms to which the programs were subject to.

Further information to follow.
