Introduction

A very warm WELCOME to the Department of Psychology, and thank you for choosing to study with us at the University of Essex.

We very much look forward to meeting again those of you who are returning to us after the summer vacation, and we are delighted to welcome for the first time those of you who are just starting on a career in higher education this year with us. We are especially pleased to greet those of you who are new to the country, and have chosen the UK, the University of Essex and the Department of Psychology to continue your studies. Wherever you are from, we hope that you will enjoy your studies with us, and that you take every opportunity to get the most out of university life.

As you will discover, the Department provides a vibrant and dynamic place in which to study, and our students are on the whole highly satisfied. We hope that you make full use of our excellent research and computing laboratories, and that you are soon fully engaged in your studies. As you will experience, we provide a research-led education: recent research informs Psychology at Essex at every level from our undergraduate degree schemes (BSc and BA), to MSc degrees and PhD degrees. You will receive up-to-date courses taught by well-qualified, highly-knowledgeable and highly-motivated staff. As student members of the department, you will play a vital role in contributing to our thriving research environment. You will invest time, effort, intelligence, creativity and scholarship into your research project work, and under expert supervision, you will contribute to some truly ground-breaking research. Indeed, Psychology at Essex was ranked 13th= out of all UK psychology departments for the overall quality of our research in the latest Research Excellence Framework report (REF2014), and student projects contributed enormously to advances in our knowledge and contributed to our excellent research publications (our publications were rated 8th in the UK in the REF2014).

All of our undergraduate Psychology degrees are fully accredited by the British Psychological Society (BPS), such that our graduates (with a 2.2 class degree or higher) are eligible for the Society's Graduate Basis for Chartered Membership (GBC). We hope that you will take full advantage of the high quality undergraduate education and facilities that we provide. You may wish to help us positively in this by getting involved as a student representative for your scheme and year group, where you can contribute through the Undergraduate Staff Student Liaison Committee (SSLC), to help us develop further the learning experience of our students, and to help us respond to changing needs and opportunities.

We look forward to meeting you all during the year. We are sure that you will find your studies both challenging and rewarding. We wish you every success in your studies.

Professor Geoff Ward, Department of Psychology

Students can buy printer credit from the ISS helpdesk/Library/campus shop for use in University ISS computing labs on campus. Printing for Psychological Teaching and Research is available to all students using the Departmental Psychology Labs, printing to the Psychology Labs printer. Responsible printing only relating to your Psychology course or research should be undertaken, using double sided and N-up printing where possible.

Noticeboards

The Undergraduate noticeboards are situated opposite the lifts on level 3 outside of the Undergraduate Administration Office. You will find second hand books, welfare information and a lot more. Keep an eye on your notice board plus the others around the Department.

2.5 Your Personal Tutor

All undergraduate and taught postgraduate students have a personal tutor who you'll meet soon after you've arrived, and who you'll meet regularly throughout your course. Your personal tutor is there to help you feel connected to your department, school or centre, and is someone you can talk to if you have questions about your course or encounter any difficulties which affect your studies. Your personal tutor may also recommend other support services on campus that might be able to help. If you're unsure who your personal tutor is, please look on myEssex or ask a member of the administrative staff in your department.

2.6 Peer Mentoring

The Department of Psychology offers Peer Mentoring to undergraduate and postgraduate students. If you are new this year you will automatically be allocated a peer mentor. This is a more experienced psychology student who is there to answer everyday questions and offer help and support. Peer mentors also provide signposting to appropriate services across the university. If you are a second or third year undergraduate and would like a peer mentor please contact the Undergraduate administrator's using psyugadmin@essex.ac.uk. If you have been in the Department for at least one year and would like to receive training to become a peer mentor please contact the Departmental Student Support & Disability Officer (Dr Dean Wybrow).

2.7 How we will communicate with you

The Department will communicate with you using notice boards, facebook, hard copy letters, moodle and even occasionally text messages (for example, if a lecture is cancelled at short notice). However, our primary method of communicating is to e-mail your essex e-mail account. You are responsible for checking your account frequently and acting on messages that we send to you. Please do not ignore them! If you are not sure whether or not you need to take action please e-mail us to check.

For further details on this please see Academic conduct:

<http://www.essex.ac.uk/about/governance/regulations/general.aspx>

2.8 Department Annual Prizes

In Years 1 and 2, the department awards prizes for the highest overall year mark. In Year 3, the Michael Lodge Memorial Prize is awarded to the student with the best overall degree mark in the year. The Department also awards the A. T. Welford Memorial Prize for the best research skills demonstrated in the second year. This prize is awarded based on a research score calculated by combining the aggregate for the PS212 Psychology Research module (worth 50%) and the average of the laboratory report coursework in the second-year modules (worth 50%). In Year 3 the Ray Meddis Prize is awarded to the student with the highest mark in the PS300 Research Project module. The Margaret Bell Prize is awarded to a student in any year who makes an outstanding contribution to the department.

2.9 Departmental Seminars

Research Seminars provide a vibrant and intellectually rich research-intensive ground for both academics and students. Leading researchers with an international reputation are weekly invited in our Department to present cutting-edge, state-of-the-art research in their field of expertise. Titles and dates will be announced near the beginning of each term. Brief outline of each talk will be posted online (http://www.essex.ac.uk/psychology/news_and_seminars/seminars.aspx) closer to the event and circulated via email the week before. For the academic year 2016-2017, these will take place on Tuesdays at 16:00 in room 4.722.

As part of a continuous research-led educational programme in our Department all undergraduates and postgraduates are very welcome and particularly encouraged to attend our Research Seminar events. Examples of past speakers include Prof Matt Lambon Ralph on the neural basis of conceptual knowledge, Prof Gina Conti-Ramsden on language development and disorders, Prof Philippe Schyns on visual information processing, Prof Wolfgang Klimesch on the functional role of human brain oscillatory activity, Dr Greg Maio on social values and Prof Charles Vincent on safety in the NHS.

In addition, the seminars will be presented by members of the Department including postgraduate research students. This might be a good opportunity for you to discover your own research interests, familiarize with ongoing research in the department, and may be helpful when deciding how to rank your PS300 project supervisor preferences or choose the area of your MSc dissertation. Following the seminar, a drinks and nibbles session with the speaker is generally held at 5pm in the CBS reception area providing a friendly environment to discuss scientific matters with our guests. You are very welcome to attend.

2.10 Participation in research

In the first year, undergraduate students will be required to undertake some research training (details provided in lectures). For this training, you may EITHER choose to write an essay on an aspect of Research Methods OR you may choose to participate in 8 hours of departmental research.

Year-II and Year-III students are not required to participate in ongoing research in the department. However, it is expected that you will help your fellow students doing Year-III (PS300) projects by participating for at least a few hours each term. One potential benefit for you is that may give you the opportunity to ask final-year students how their projects are going and perhaps gain valuable tips and advice. Through the web-based sign-up system (SONA) you will also find paid opportunities to participate in research ongoing in the department. In general, willingness to participate in research will help students gain insight into problems of method and technique and to gain valuable understanding of what can be expected from the participants you will use in your own research work.

2.11 Research Experience Scheme

The RES is aimed at undergraduate students (open to year 1 and 2 students) who have an interest in gaining research experience. The scheme allows students to work together with staff members on ongoing research projects and in doing so develop practical skills in conducting empirical work in Psychology and consequently expanding their repertoire of employability and personal development skills. Student and staff member participation is entirely voluntary.

In addition to the RES, there is also the Undergraduate Research Opportunities Programme (UROP), which offers paid research opportunities. These will be advertised later in the year via email and on the UROP website www.essex.ac.uk/urop

Learning and Teaching

3.1 Learning, Teaching and Independent Study

The Department of Psychology fully embraces our diverse student population and strives to ensure that all of our students achieve their full potential. We aim to design and deliver pedagogy, curricular and assessment to engage students in learning that is meaningful, relevant and accessible to all. We embrace individual differences as the source of diversity that can enrich the lives and learning of others.

3.2 Moodle, ORB and FASER

Our online resource bank (ORB), stores important module materials such as reading lists and past exam papers.

We use Moodle as our online learning environment, to enhance face-to-face teaching. It lets you get to course materials, and has built-in features to enhance learning such as discussion forums, chat facilities, quizzes, surveys, glossaries and wikis. You will automatically be included on the relevant modules at the start of the academic year.

FASER is our online coursework submission and feedback system. Use it to submit your coursework electronically, produce a watermarked copy of your work and receive electronic feedback all in one place.

Only upload PDF or Word documents (.doc) to Faser, unless you are specifically asked for to upload a different kind of file (e.g. a Powerpoint presentation) for a particular piece of coursework.

faser.essex.ac.uk

www.essex.ac.uk/it/elearning

3.3 Course structures

BA and BSc in Psychology and the BSc in Psychology with Cognitive Neuroscience

Single-honours psychology undergraduates are registered in the Faculty of Science and Health. Throughout the three years of your degree programme, you will follow the same syllabus regardless of whether you are registered for a BA or BSc degree. Requests to change between the BA and BSc courses must be finalized before the start of the following year. Students studying for the BSc Psychology with Cognitive Neuroscience are always registered on the BSc programme.

Programme specifications

Programme specifications provide key information such as the structure and aims of your course, as well as the knowledge and skills you will develop. The learning outcomes are categorised into knowledge, intellectual, practical and key skills, and are linked to the aims, learning outcomes and assessment on the modules you take. The relevant Programme Specification for your course and stage of study will be available to you when you log onto either myEssex or eNROL.

British Psychological Society

With the exception of BA Psychological Studies, all our degrees are accredited by BPS. This means they are recognised by British Psychological Society (BPS) for the purposes of Graduate Membership and towards the Graduate Basis for Chartered Membership. Accreditation gives graduates the opportunity to gain Graduate and/or Chartered Membership (GBC) of the Society. GBC is an entry requirement for all postgraduate training programmes leading to chartered status.

In order to gain a degree that confers the British Psychological Society's Graduate Basis for Chartering (GBC) status, you must obtain an overall classification of at least lower second class honours (2.2).

3.4 Changing your degree and maximum period of study

If you want to change your course, you should talk to someone in your department first. Check the deadlines for course changes with the Student Services Hub.

Investigate your potential new course by looking at course information on the department's web pages, talking to students on the course and speaking to tutors. You should also look at our Rules of Assessment for the new course to check whether there are any course-specific requirements.

If you are considering changing course due to academic worries with your current course you might find it useful to seek academic support before changing course. Contact the Talent Development Centre for advice.

www.essex.ac.uk/students/study-resources/tdc

If you want to make a formal request for a course change, you should do so via the online Course Change form. Go to www.essex.ac.uk/students/course-admin/changing-course for more information.

Undergraduate students have a maximum period in which to complete their studies. This is set at the point at which you register, and is normally the length of your programme plus two additional years. This is to allow some flexibility in cases where you find you must intermit, or you fail a stage of study and must repeat it, or you want to transfer to a new course and must retake a stage of study.

3.5 Information about Modules

First-Year

You will take six modules in your first year.

Five of these will be Psychology modules: PS111, PS114, PS115, PS116 and PS117.

Third-Year

In the final year of your BA or BSc in Psychology or BSc Psychology with Cognitive Neuroscience, you have to complete a full-year research project (PS300) and the equivalent of six half-year modules.

For students on the Psychology with Cognitive Neuroscience course the Neuroscience of Human Nature is a compulsory module and your Psychology project will be in a relevant topic area.

You must take at least two half-year modules in each term.

In practice, many students prefer to take either three half-year modules in term 1 and three half-year modules in term 2, or four in term 1 and two in term 2.

However, if you know that you are good at organizing your time and have a strong preference for the spring-term modules, you are permitted to take two half-year modules in term 1 and four half-year modules in term 2.

Autumn Term

- PS300-6-FY: Psychology Project (for students taking Psychology with Cognitive Neuroscience this will be in a relevant topic area).
- PS481-6-AU: Cognitive Neuropsychology
- PS486-6-AU: Culture and Psychology
- PS492-6-FY: Psychology Careers and Employability
- PS495-6-AU: Neuroscience of Human Nature

- PS502-6-SP: Beyond Brain and Behaviour
- PS504-6-SP: Abnormal Psychology
- Or one outside module

Outside Modules and Graduating

Final-year students are entitled to take up to 30 credits worth of outside modules that are approved by the Department in place of the equivalent Psychology third-year option modules. That is, you are allowed to take up to one full-year module or two half-year modules that are run by a different Department.

If you are considering choosing an outside module then you should check the level of the module – Year-2 modules are called level-5 modules and Year-3 modules are called level-6 modules. This is important as the rules of assessment state that you will need to pass 90 credits of level 6 modules to be able to graduate. The simplest, safest advice is to take either only psychology modules or level-6 outside modules. This will give you the greatest flexibility as to which modules you could fail and yet still graduate: specifically, you could fail any 30 credits and still graduate with 90 credits at level 6.

However, the Department does allow you to take a level-5 outside module, but you should do so only after understanding the following technical point: if you were to choose a level-5 outside module in your third year, it means that you would have no flexibility in which modules you could afford to fail – you would have to pass all remaining 90 credits worth of your third-year psychology modules to be able to graduate.

Module enrolment

All students will have access to a list of any optional modules when you log in online to make your selection. The University does its best to make a wide range of outside options available, but if there is a timetabling clash with a compulsory module then you might be asked to select a different optional module. You will be able to find detailed information on all the modules here: <http://www.essex.ac.uk/modules>

Changing optional modules

It is usually possible to change modules up to the end of the second week of the Autumn Term. If you are not sure which modules to take you could attend lectures for several different modules before making your final choice. If you do decide to change, you need do this within the first two weeks of the Autumn Term.

For more information go to information on changing modules at the start of the academic year: www.essex.ac.uk/modules.

Requesting a class change

Students are automatically assigned to classes based on availability by the Central Timetabling Office and in the attempt to produce a clash free timetable for every student.

In special circumstances students may request a change in their class allocations – for example, if you have childcare or caring commitments, work commitments, attendance on other courses of study or for medical reasons. Permission to change to an alternative class or lecture is agreed at departmental or school level and the right is reserved to refuse permission to change. The above list is not exhaustive, and we understand there may be other genuine reasons for changes. Your Department may ask for evidence to support your change of class request. Please note class change requests are subject to availability within other classes.

3.6 Listen Again

Did you miss something? Our Listen Again digital recording service lets you listen again to lectures so you grasp every detail. It's available in teaching rooms or lecture theatres where you see the sign.

listenagain.essex.ac.uk

3.7 Supervision of Final Year Projects

In your final year as an Undergraduate you will complete a full-year research project. You will be allocated a supervisor for this project who will guide you through the process. At the end of your second year you will receive an introductory talk and a handbook explaining everything you need to know. This module is coded PS300 in the Department of Psychology and is co-ordinated by the Year Three Tutor.

3.8 Essex Abroad and Term Abroad

The study abroad scheme offers a fantastic opportunity to broaden your horizons, enjoy another culture and make lifelong friends while continuing your degree studies. On this scheme you can study abroad for one term of a three-year degree course (the spring term of the final year) or include an entire year abroad (between the second and third year) within a 4-year degree. There are no fees during the year abroad. If you're interested, talk to the Study Abroad Officers Dr Geoff Cole (incoming students) or Dr Elia Valentini (outgoing students). Visit: <http://www.essex.ac.uk/studyabroad>

3.9 Employability and Placements

The Department has worked with the Employability and Careers Centre to integrate employability modules as part of the Undergraduate Degree. The employability modules are designed to support you in developing your future direction and acquiring the skills and experience you need. You will attend one Employability module in each year of your Undergraduate degree.

It is possible to include a placement year as part of your Undergraduate Degree, but it is the student's responsibility to find a placement. Please note that not all placement opportunities fit within the University procedures but advice and support is available from the Director of Employability & Careers (Dr Rick O'Gorman).

3.10 How the Department offers an inclusive learning experience

The University of Essex, in conformity with the intention of its Charter, confirms its commitment to a comprehensive policy of equal opportunities within the University. It aims to create the conditions whereby students and staff are treated solely on the basis of their merits, abilities and potential regardless of gender, colour, ethnic or national origin, age, socio-economic background, disability, religious or political beliefs and affiliations, family circumstances, sexual orientation or other irrelevant distinction. The University is committed to a programme of action to ensure that this policy be fully effective.

3.10.1 Information for disabled students

We would encourage all new students with a disability, long term medical condition, specific learning difficulty or mental health difficulty to disclose and register with the disability service so that we can plan how best to support you in your studies.

You can find out about the academic and learning support we offer here:

www.essex.ac.uk/students/disability/academic.aspx

UK students may be eligible for a Disabled Students' Allowance grant. Go here for more information including application forms and key changes for 2016-17

www.essex.ac.uk/students/disability/funding.aspx

3.10.2 Information for international students

We are proud to be a global community and we recognise that living and studying in the UK may be very different from your own country.

Essex has a wide range of support covering academic and health and wellbeing issues. Our friendly and professional staff will be able to guide, give advice and assist you during your time at Essex.

You can find helpful information here - www.essex.ac.uk/students/new/international/default

If you are studying on a Tier 4 visa, don't forget to read section 8.4 Tier 4 Information of this handbook which has further information and links.

3.10.3 Mature and part-time students

As a mature student you'll be in very good company – around 37% of our students are mature students.

We appreciate that studying as a mature student can present challenges. This is particularly true if this is your first experience of higher education and you have other commitments and responsibilities to meet such as work and family. We want you to be aware of the support available so that you can make the most of your time at Essex.

You can find more information here: www.essex.ac.uk/life/students/mature

3.11 Student representation, Student Staff Liaison Committee, Student Assessment of Modules and Teaching and Student Surveys

Student feedback is a vital part of the University's approach to quality assurance and enhancement. It is important that you are given the opportunity and that you take the time to feedback to the University.

You can do this in a number of ways:

1. You can contact (or be elected as) a student representative who represent the voice of fellow students in departmental Student Staff Liaison Committees (SSLCs) and other University level committees.
2. You can find more information on the Students' Union website www.essexstudent.com/representation/coursereprs/ and the University's policy here: www.essex.ac.uk/quality/student_representation/student_rep.asp

3. You can find out information about SSLCs here:
www.essex.ac.uk/quality/student_representation/sslc.asp

Every year, we will ask you to complete the Student Assessment of Module and Teaching (SAMT). This survey will be summarised and discussed by SSLCs and will inform reports written by us for central University committees as part of our quality assurance processes.

Student satisfaction surveys enable the University to gauge overall satisfaction amongst students. When the results have been reviewed and analysed, the University can then enhance your experience of learning at Essex. You will probably be aware of the National Student Survey (NSS) for final year students, which feeds into university league tables. We also run our own Student Satisfaction Survey (SSS) which tells us on a local level how we're doing and where we can make improvements. It's for all undergraduate students not covered by the NSS. The surveys are run online and you will receive a link to the survey in your email.

3.12 Library Services

At our Colchester Campus, the Albert Sloman Library on Square 5 has long opening hours, a new extension and 24 hours a day access in the weeks leading up to exam time, the library has a wide range of learning resources, including books, journals, British and foreign-language newspapers, databases, microfilms and audio-visual materials. There are quiet group study areas and networked PCs on all floors.

libwww.essex.ac.uk

3.13 Attendance monitoring (Count-me-in) and absence from sessions

Your attendance at lectures and classes has a significant impact on how successful you are in your studies. At Essex, we monitor attendance so we can identify students who may need guidance and support.

You'll need to record your attendance at teaching events using your registration card and the electronic reader in the teaching room. Just 'tap in' for every timetabled teaching event you attend. Your tap will count from 15mins before the start time and up to 15mins after the start time on your timetable.

You should not tap in for someone who is not attending the class; and also you should not tap in if you then immediately leave the teaching event. This is breaking the Student Code of Conduct and you could be fined Attending is especially important if you are here on a Tier 4 visa.

If you lose your card or it is faulty, go to the Student Services Hub to get a new card (a small fee is applicable for lost cards).

If you need to report an absence from a teaching event you should do so by completing the notified absence on MyEssex. We will consider the reasons and may record it as an authorised absence. Be aware that you may need to provide evidence, including medical evidence if relevant. Please see www.essex.ac.uk/see/attendance for acceptable reasons to be absent.

You will be able to check your attendance record, and notified absences on MyEssex. We are introducing this by department during the year.

Please contact your Personal Tutor, department staff or the Student Services Hub for advice and support, particularly if you are going to be absent for several weeks.

For more information on attendance, and for links to forms and guidelines visit: www.essex.ac.uk/see/attendance

Assessment

4.1 Rules of Assessment

www.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/ppq/general/assess-rules.aspx

The Rules of Assessment are the rules, principles and frameworks which the University uses to calculate your course progression and final results. These decisions are made by the Board of Examiners, which meets at the end of the Summer Term. The Board of Examiners use the Rules of Assessment to decide:

- whether you can be awarded credit for the modules you have studied
- whether you have done enough to move on to the next stage of your course
- whether you have done enough to pass your course
- what classification you will receive
- what reassessment you could be offered
- whether you must withdraw from your course, with or without an exit award

Year One Rules of Assessment

In order to proceed to the second year of the psychology degree, first-year students must:

- Obtain an overall mark of 40% or greater in PS111.
- Obtain a mark of 40% or greater in both the coursework and the examination in PS114.
- Obtain an overall mark of 40% or greater in PS115.
- Achieve a final aggregate mark of 40% or more in your outside option module/ PS118

Year Two Rules of Assessment

In order to proceed to the third year of the psychology degree, second-year students must:

- Obtain an overall mark of 40% or greater in PS212
- Obtain an overall mark of 40% or greater in all six half-year modules
- Obtain a minimum mark of 36% in each of the three lab reports.

Exit Awards

If you decide to withdraw from your course before you finish, or you fail too many credits to be awarded a Bachelor's degree, you may be awarded a qualification at a lower level, if appropriate.

4.2 Extenuating Circumstances, withdrawing and intermitting

Extenuating circumstances are circumstances beyond your control which cause you to perform less well in your coursework or examinations than you might have expected. In general, extenuating circumstances will be of a medical or personal nature that affect you for any significant period of time and/or during the examination period.

You need to submit your form by the deadline, see: www.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/ext-circ.aspx

You will not get extra marks if you hand in an extenuating circumstances form. Boards of Examiners use other methods to take into account extenuating circumstances, such as permitting further reassessment opportunities for uncapped marks.

Please read the guidance on extenuating circumstances very carefully before submitting your form and evidence. Please seek advice from the Students' Union Advice Centre, www.essexstudent.com/services/advice_centre/, or the Student Services Hub, www.essex.ac.uk/students/contact/default.aspx, if you need any guidance.

Intermitting is a temporary withdrawal or leave of absence from your studies. Normally this is for reasons beyond your control such as health or personal problems. An intermission is approved for a defined period of time after which you would return to your studies. This is a formal process which needs formal approval.

If you are thinking about intermitting, there are some practical things you need to consider such as academic issues, for example the impact on your module choices and maximum period of study, accommodation, financial matters including the impact on your tuition fees and visas if you have a student or Tier 4 visa.

If you decide to intermit you will no longer be entitled to attend tuition but you will still have access to your Essex email account which we will use to communicate with you and some library access.

Please see www.essex.ac.uk/students/course-admin/intermission for guidance on intermission.

You should read the guidance on intermitting very carefully before submitting your form, at: www.essex.ac.uk/students/course-admin/intermission. You are strongly advised to discuss intermitting with your department.

You may experience doubts about continuing on your course at some point during your studies.

Withdrawing from your course is the formal process for permanently leaving your programme of study and the University. There are plenty of people at Essex who can provide you with information, advice, guidance and support to help you to make a decision that's right for you. For instance, you might find that taking a temporary break from your studies (intermitting) will enable you to resolve the current situation that is causing you to think about leaving. Also, please note that if you are thinking about withdrawing from the University, there are some practical things you need to consider: accommodation, financial matters including your tuition fees, visas if you have a student or Tier 4 visa, and careers advice. Who to contact for advice, the practical matters that you need to consider, your options, and the withdrawal process are all detailed here: <http://www.essex.ac.uk/students/course-admin/withdrawing.aspx>

4.3 Re-marking of coursework

You have the right to request a re-mark of your coursework under certain circumstances which your department will advise you on. The University Marking Policy can be found at: www.essex.ac.uk/quality/university_policies/examination_and_assessment/marking_policy. You will need to complete a form and be aware that marks can go down as well as up.

4.4 Moderation, second marking policies and External Examiners

The University policy on moderation is part of the Marking Policy. When work is moderated, it means that a second member of academic staff takes a random sample of the work for a particular assessment and reviews the marks given. A moderator would not change the individual marks for the work, but would liaise with the first marker if he or she believed that the marks were not at the correct level, with a view to the first marker reviewing and adjusting the marking.

Second marking is where a second marker marks the work but has access to the first marker's marks and/or comments. Where two members of staff are involved in marking a piece of work, the markers should make every effort to agree a mark, rather than merely averaging the two marks. Departments must keep a full record of both individual and agreed marks for all work which is second or double marked.

External Examiners are usually academics from other universities but may be from industry, business or the profession depending on the requirements of the course. They give an impartial view of the course and independent advice to ensure that courses at the University meet the academic standards expected across UK higher education. External Examiners write reports on the courses and modules they are responsible for which are made available to you via your department. You can find the name and institution of the External Examiner for your course and modules by looking on the Programme Specifications Catalogue and the Module Directory. You can find out more about how the University uses External Examiners at: www.essex.ac.uk/quality/external_examiners

Please note: you may not contact External Examiners directly under any circumstances. If you have any concerns about the quality and standards of your course, please contact your student rep, your Head of Department or the Students' Union.

4.5 Appeals and complaints

Academic Appeals Procedure

www.essex.ac.uk/see/appeals-ug

Following the release of your end of year results, you are eligible to submit a formal appeal against the progress decision of the Board of Examiners that have made the decision regarding your academic progress. Formal appeals can take up to 6 weeks to be considered, however, if you are not in the final year of your programme of study, you can "Consult the Dean" before submitting a formal appeal. The Dean can take action and change the original progress decision, and can also consider requests from students who want to repeat the year rather than take reassessment across the summer. Please visit the Appeals webpage for information regarding the deadline by which you must "Consult the Dean" and/or submit your formal appeal by.

As with all appeals, you would be required to provide any relevant evidence that substantiate your claims. The main legitimate grounds for appeal are any extenuating circumstances that you could not make the Board of Examiners' aware of in advance, or procedural irregularities in the conduct of the Board of Examiners (including alleged administrative error) of such a nature as to cause reasonable doubt as to whether the result might have been different had they not occurred. Other grounds will be considered on their merits but you may not appeal against academic judgement. This means that you can't appeal against the marks you have been given by a Board of Examiners without evidence of extenuating circumstances or procedural irregularity.

The Appeals Procedure gives examples of grounds for appeal which are not considered legitimate. You should read these before submitting an appeal. You may also appeal against the outcome of academic offences committees and progress committees under certain circumstances.

We strongly advise all students thinking about making an appeal to contact the Students' Union Advice Centre. Please visit www.essexstudent.com/advice for more information.

The Complaints Procedure:

The University is a large community engaged in many activities, both academic and non-academic. If you feel dissatisfied with some aspect of your dealings with the University, it is important that the issue is dealt with constructively and as quickly as possible without risk of disadvantage or recrimination. You can find the complaints procedure and the forms here:

www.essex.ac.uk/see/complaints

4.6 Academic Offences Policy

www.essex.ac.uk/see/academic-offence

All students are expected to behave with honesty and integrity in relation to coursework, examinations and other assessed work. If you do not do so, you may be found to have committed an academic offence. The University takes academic offences very seriously.

Academic offences can include plagiarism, false authorship, collusion, falsifying data or evidence, unethical research behaviour and cheating in an examination (this list is not exhaustive). Academic offences can be committed as a result of negligence, meaning that you may be found guilty of an academic offence even if you didn't intend to commit one.

It is your responsibility to make yourself aware of the Academic Offences Procedure, the regulations governing examinations, and how to correctly reference and cite the work of others. If you aren't sure what referencing system you should use, you should ask your department and also refer to 8: Referencing and good academic practice in this handbook.

If an allegation of an academic offence is made against you, we strongly advise contacting the Students' Union Advice Centre. Please visit www.essexstudent.com/advice for more information.

4.7 Ethics

All research involving human participants, whether undertaken by the University's staff or students, must undergo an ethics review and ethical approval must be obtained before it commences. You can find our Guidelines for Ethical Approval of Research Involving Human Participants at:

www.essex.ac.uk/reo/governance/human.aspx along with the Ethical Approval application form.

'Human participants' are defined as including living human beings, human beings who have recently died (cadavers, human remains and body parts), embryos and fetuses, human tissue and bodily fluids, and personal data and records (such as, but not restricted to medical, genetic, financial, personnel, criminal or administrative records and test results including scholastic achievements).

Your supervisor for your PS300 Final year project will apply for Ethics approval for the project that you undertake.

Coursework

5.1 Assignment and essay length

Marking penalties may be applied to projects, essays or laboratory reports that exceed the designated length. Therefore, the word count should always be considered a maximum number of words. Note that the word count is for the main body of the text and does not include coversheet, abstract or references. There is no mark penalty for pieces of coursework that are too short, but bear in mind that a very short piece of coursework is unlikely to contain all of the points that the assessor is looking for.

5.2 Coursework submission

The Department of Psychology is fully compliant with the University's on-line coursework submission system FASER. All undergraduate students will be required to submit their coursework assignments (including all projects, lab reports and coursework essays) electronically. For some coursework you will also be asked by the tutor to submit a hard copy. This system is accessible via the portal MyEssex, but is also accessible through the website: <https://www.essex.ac.uk/e-learning/tools/faser/students/> and a getting started guide is available at: <https://www.essex.ac.uk/e-learning/tools/faser/students/Help.aspx>

The system is password protected, so you will need to log in with your Essex username and password. The very first time you will access the server you will be required to read the advice on plagiarism, therefore you will be redirect to the universities website on plagiarism. Read everything carefully before you proceed. You will see a list of all the modules that you are registered for and a list of all the coursework assignments and their deadlines. You can upload your coursework either from campus or from off-campus, and keep old copies prior to submission to be replaced by revised copies later. Copy and paste the cover sheet from the Assessment Guide into your file. Please do not use your name as the filename as this undermines our anonymous marking.

Assignments and deadlines

For each module, a week is given for when the assignment will be given out (Set in Week No.), a week will be given for when the deadline for handing in (Hand In Week No.), and a week will be given for when the marked assignment will be returned for feedback (Results back In Week No.). You are advised to collect your marked coursework well within 2 weeks of when it becomes available for collection.

If it becomes necessary to make some variation to the schedule due to unforeseen circumstances, updated information will be published by e-mail and on notice boards.

Full details of the coursework will be provided in the module outlines of individual modules that will be distributed during the first lecture. Coursework Tests will normally be taken under examination conditions and take place at the time indicated in your hand-out (and shown on your Timetable), and Coursework Assignments will normally be a piece of written work (e.g., essay or lab report) that is submitted through the on-line Coursework Submission (FASer) system. The Hand In deadline for UG Students is Thursday at 12 noon of the Hand In Week No.

You will find a copy of the Academic Year calendar in the front of this Handbook. Or via this link: <http://www.essex.ac.uk/students/course-admin/timetables.aspx>

5.3 Details and samples of coursework

Samples of coursework will be provided where appropriate by module staff. External Examiners are able to view coursework as part of their role in assessing the departments marking procedures. The Psychology Administrators will email any relevant students if and when it is necessary to recall hard copies of coursework.

5.4 Return of marked coursework

Your coursework marks will be returned electronically and you will receive an e-mail when it is ready to view. For certain assessments, your coursework will be marked in hard copy, but you will receive your mark electronically. You should also collect your hard copy so that you can see your feedback.

This is important because (a) you can get timely feedback that may help improve other assignments, (b) you can get a gauge as early as possible as to the quality of work that you are submitting, (c) you can gain additional feedback from the marker, if necessary.

5.5 Late coursework policy

We have a single policy at the University of Essex for the late submission of coursework in Undergraduate courses: All coursework submitted (even one minute) after the deadline will receive a mark of zero. No extensions will be granted. A student submitting coursework late will have the University's and department's arrangements for late submission drawn to their attention. The policy states that the mark of zero shall stand unless you submit satisfactory evidence of extenuating circumstances that indicate that you were unable to submit the work by the deadline.

More information about extenuating circumstances relating to late submission of coursework is available at: www.essex.ac.uk/dsh/latesubmission

5.6 Essay writing support

Students studying PS111, Discovering Psychology, receive literacy support classes from the Talent Development Centre. These will help you to develop academic skills such as writing, information gathering and utilising feedback. These classes form an integral part of the module. However, all students in the department, whether undergraduate or postgraduate, can access the support of the Talent Development Centre. One-to-one sessions with an academic skills tutor are available to anyone who feels they will benefit. The Talent Development Centre Helpdesk operates from the Silberrad Student Centre on the ground floor. They are open 10am - 4pm, Monday to Friday. You can drop in and talk to someone about the support on offer.

5.7 Anonymous marking policy

Effective feedback helps students to understand the mark given for a particular piece of work, and helps students to reflect on their own learning and to achieve better marks in future pieces of work. A variety of methods of providing feedback are used across the University, and departments chose the most appropriate for their courses and modules. The University does not have an institution-wide approach to anonymous marking in coursework. Departments decide whether to use anonymous marking in coursework or not.

This department operates a system of anonymous marking of coursework. The Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education defines anonymous marking as the 'marking of students' submitted work without their identity being revealed to the person carrying out the marking at the time the work is marked, so that the assessment is unbiased.' Anonymity helps to ensure that conscious or unconscious prejudice does not affect marks, and that each piece of work is judged on its merits and not in relation to the marker's other impressions of a student. Anonymity should not prevent you discussing your work with academic staff, although systems for permitting this may vary depending on factors such as the nature of the exercise. Please see section 5.2 on coursework submission for details of how to submit your coursework.

If you take optional modules outside your home department, you should make sure you are aware of the policy on whether coursework is marked anonymously or not, and how to submit coursework.

5.8 Reassessment in coursework

If the Board of Examiners has required you to complete essays or assignments that you have failed, over the vacation, the Registry will send you a letter by email with further information. Please check your Essex email account regularly once your results have been published. Your Department will send you details of the assignments which you are required to undertake. If you haven't received anything within three weeks of the results being published, you must contact your Department or the Registry.

5.9 Referencing in Coursework

Drawing on the wide range of reading you do around your subject area, and demonstrating how you have used this to develop your knowledge and form your own views, is a key aspect of your coursework. It's essential that you reference your source material so it's clear where the information has come from, and to avoid any misunderstanding over whether you are presenting ideas as your own. (see Academic Offences Policy section 4.6). For further details please refer to the section on referencing in the Assessment Guide and Section 7 in this handbook.

Exams

6.1 Examination regulations

The General Regulations which govern examinations can be found via the website here www.essex.ac.uk/about/governance/regulations/affairs.aspx#exams

Attendance at examinations is compulsory. For exams that are more than an hour long, you will not be allowed to enter the examination room if you arrive later than 55 minutes after the start of the exam. If your exam is only an hour long, you will only be admitted up to ten minutes after the start of the exam.

6.2 Access to exam scripts

If you want to see your exam script, you should normally make the request within four weeks after the exam to the department which is responsible for that module. The department should either: let you see the script in the presence of one of the staff responsible for teaching the module or give you a copy or summary of the examiners' comments on your performance. You can find further information about Assessment Policies for Undergraduate and Taught Postgraduate Awards at: www.essex.ac.uk/quality/university_policies

6.3 General information about summer exams and examination results

You can find your personalised exam timetable online at: www.essex.ac.uk/examtimes/

You must bring your registration card and exam entry form with you to the exam. You will not be allowed entry without them. Remember to check your exam entry form carefully and contact the Examinations Office if there are any errors.

You can download a guide to examinations and watch a short video at: www.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/default

You will receive an email to your Essex email account as soon as your results are published. You can find the publication schedule at: www.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/schedule

6.4 Anonymous marking policy in examinations

All formal examinations at the University of Essex are marked anonymously.

6.5 Reassessment in examinations

You can find more information relating to resitting exams at: www.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/resits

Remember that reassessment in examinations (and coursework) carries a fee.

6.6 Referencing in examinations

You should reference your source material so it's clear where the information has come from, and to avoid any misunderstanding over whether you are presenting ideas as your own. For further details please refer to Section 7.

6.7 Calculators and Dictionaries

If you are allowed to use a calculator in your examinations, the only models you are permitted to use are the Casio FX-83GT PLUS or the Casio FX-85GT PLUS. You can buy these from the Burrow, everythingEssex or Waterstones at the Colchester Campus or online from Amazon or eBay, or from Tesco, Argos or WH Smith.

A limited number of the permitted calculators will be available to borrow on the day of your exam from the Exams Office on a first-come, first-served basis, on production of your registration card.

Dictionaries are not permitted in examinations unless the rubric of the examination specifically states that candidates may use a dictionary, for example a translation dictionary may be permitted in certain language examinations. Your department will be able to advise you whether any of your exams specifically permit the use of a dictionary. Electronic dictionaries are never permitted. If you take a dictionary to an examination where it is not permitted, you will be reported on suspicion of committing an Academic Offence.

Non-native speakers of English should note that the entitlement to use a translation dictionary was removed with effect from October 2004.

Referencing and good academic practice

7.1 Importance of good academic practice

Respecting authorship through good academic practice is one of the keys to academic integrity, and a key value of higher education in the United Kingdom.

The University takes academic offences very seriously. You should read the sections of this handbook which refer to referencing, coursework and examinations very carefully.

7.2 Where to seek guidance

The Talent Development Centre provides online courses and guides to help you fully understand what is required from you. You can find out about the full range of workshops and resources that are available to you by visiting www.essex.ac.uk/see/tdc. You can also complete the online Academic Integrity course at moodle.essex.ac.uk/course.

You should read the sections of this handbook which refer to referencing, coursework and examinations very carefully. Failure to understand the academic conventions may result in you being found to have committed an academic offence (see section 4.6 Academic Offences Procedure).

Remember, if you have any questions about referencing you can ask our academic staff, or staff in the Talent Development Centre.

Please refer to the Psychology Assessment Guide for further details on referencing.

7.3 The University Academic Offences Policy

Please see section 4.6 and remember that the Academic Offence Procedure applies to all students

Practicalities: Getting Started and I.T Information

8.1 Registration, enrolling and transcripts

All new and returning students must register at the start of each academic year. The full process for new students includes activating your student record for the academic year, getting your email account, gaining access to IT and library services, and enrolment on modules and confirming your contact details. As your studies draw to a close, once your exam board has met, it takes up to five working days for your results to be confirmed. The Assessment Team will publish your results and update your record. For graduating students, Degree Certificates will be provided by the Graduation Team either for collection at Graduation, or they will be sent afterwards for students who do not attend the Graduation event. For more about registration, visit our student webpages.

www.essex.ac.uk/students/new/registration

www.essex.ac.uk/students/graduation/award-documents

8.2 Find Your Way and room numbering system

Find Your Way is our interactive campus map app. Download it to help you find any location on campus and get directions quickly and easily. There's also a handy web version <http://findyourway.essex.ac.uk>

If you're looking for a specific room, follow these rules.

If the room number has three parts and the first is alphabetical eg TC.1.20 then the room is in one of the outer buildings. The format is building.floor.room. The first part indicates the building - "TC" is the Teaching Centre and "LH" is the Ivor Crewe Lecture Hall. The second part tells you the floor and the third the room number. For example, LH.1.12 is Ivor Crewe Lecture Hall, floor 1, room 12.

If the number has three parts and the first contains numbers and letters eg 5N.7.16, then the room is in square 4 or 5. The format is entrance.floor.room. The first part tells you the square and corner (eg 4S is the south corner of square 4), which matches the labels on the entrances (eg door 4NW is next to The Store). The second part is the floor and the third part the room. For example, 5NW.6.12 is in the north-west (NW) corner of Square 5 (entrance "5NW"), floor 6, room 12.

If the number has two elements and the second element has three digits eg 4.722, the room is in the Maths/Social Studies/Rab Butler/Square 1 building area. The first number shows the floor and the last three digits show the room number.

Also... if the last three digits are 700-799 the room is off Square 1, and if the last three digits are 500-599 the room is in the Square 2 area (Computer Science). For example, 5.512 is room 512, floor 5.

As part of your Office 365 email account you get unlimited cloud storage space for all your documents with OneDrive. OneDrive lets you create, edit, and share documents online. You also get at least 300 MB of local storage, known as your M: drive. You can access this by going to 'My Documents' on any lab computer.

Visit the IT Services website for helpful information, including how-to guides, answers to frequently asked questions, and links to video screencasts. www.essex.ac.uk/it

Academic career advice (for students)

Are you thinking of pursuing a career in academia, or would you like more information about this kind of career? If so, you can get in touch our Academic Careers Advisers, Dr Vanessa Loaiza (v.loaiza@essex.ac.uk) and Dr Andrew Simpson (asimpson@essex.ac.uk). Of course, you may also approach other members of staff, such as your tutor or project supervisor. They will be more than happy to answer your questions and give you advice.

Do you find yourself excited to learn about psychology research? Do you enjoy reading research articles and find yourself eager to know about the results of a study? Do you enjoy statistics (even if you are sometimes intimidated or find it difficult)? In general, are you passionate about finding out first-hand the factors that shape human behaviour and cognition? If so, you may want to consider an academic career!

A career in academia allows you to teach and do research in the area of psychology that you love alongside other colleagues who are just as passionate as you. An environment that is stimulating, challenging and exciting coupled with following one's passions can lead to a long and rewarding career.

Undergraduate students who are considering an academic career are encouraged to speak to the academic career advisers: Dr Andrew Simpson and Dr Vanessa Loaiza. It can be overwhelming to plan your path toward an academic career, and they are here to help you how to best sort out the steps and answer your questions. To get started, check out the following road map (and keep in mind there are many, many sub-goals for each step, so don't get overwhelmed!):

Step 1: Is an academic career right for me?

A first step is to gain as much experience as you can with psychology research. Dr Simpson encourages students to attend as many research seminars and read as many primary research articles as you can to get a feel of your favourite areas. Can you see yourself doing this kind of research as well? Similarly, Dr Loaiza encourages you to gain experience by becoming active in doing research. The department's Research Experience Scheme (RES), Undergraduate Research Opportunities Programme (UROP) and Frontrunners all allow students to gain knowledge and experience of doing research while being guided by a supervisor on a variety of different topics in psychology. These experiences will help you determine if you feel really committed to an academic career as well as make your application for graduate study even more competitive.

Step 2: Graduate study

You will need to do graduate study for an academic career. You may choose to do a Masters before a PhD or go straight to a PhD program. There are different methods to accomplish this:

- ❖ Apply for PhD positions that are advertised online on academic job websites, such as <http://www.jobs.ac.uk/phd>
- ❖ Independently identify a supervisor who is enthusiastic to support your PhD studies and develop a project together

Whereas funding often accompanies the former method, applications for funding are often required for the second method via Research Council competitions.

Step 3: After Graduate study

Post-doctoral positions are often required for continuing on in academia. Similar to the PhD, the two main methods of securing a position are to:

- ❖ Apply for a post-doc position advertised online on academic job websites
- ❖ Independently apply for fellowship funding after having identified a supervisor who is happy to have you join his/her team

If you would like to acquire a first experience of research, or to develop your research skills further, there are many research schemes (paid and unpaid) for which you might like to apply.

- ❖ Undergraduate Research Opportunities Programme (UROP); <https://www.essex.ac.uk/urop/>
- ❖ Research Experience Scheme (RES) ; <https://www.essex.ac.uk/psychology/careers/research-experience.aspx>
- ❖ Frontrunners and frontrunners plus; <https://www.essex.ac.uk/frontrunners/>

We hope you have an amazing year in the Department of Psychology!
