Conference Focus

This Conference focuses on reparations for the African Holocaust.

The aim of the Conference is to show how colonialism and the slave trade wrought economic devastation on those countries where these events took place, and the causal connection between this and the state of affected countries' economies today.

Such causality could form the platform for justified demands for reparation, including calls for a change in trading rules.

Conference Themes

- Reparations
- Colonial History
- Analogous Claims
- Institutional Racism
- Remedies

Call for Papers

Abstracts are invited on the above themes for oral presentation. All papers should be relevant to the Conference theme. Research in the area of human rights, globalisation, economic or environmental studies is welcome if it has some bearing on the nature of reparations.

Deadline for submissions to the Conference Organiser: 27th June 2008.

Target Audience

Academics, Politicians, NGOs in the field of human rights, environment, health care, Development Aid organisers, Economists, Environmentalists, Lawyers, students and campaigning organisations in allied fields.

Conference Organisation

The Conference is an inter-institutional project, jointly undertaken by:

Department of Law of Essex University,
Human Rights Centre at Essex University,
School of Oriental and African Studies,
Queen Mary University of London.
